

The proposed 60 meter band should have input power limited to no more than 200 watts. A band plan with sub bands for CW and digital modes should be incorporated to allow more use by operators of the different modes, thus reducing interference between other modes.